

Name: Joshua Kronengold

Address:

Type: Comment

I am an amateur musician and songwriter, generally composing my songs to existing tunes. Because of copyright restrictions, I generally limit myself to tunes of people I know or those in the public domain, however, I am frustrated by the number of tunes which are unusable (because of copyright restrictions), but which are not actually doing anyone any good. Moreover, I am aware of dozens, if not thousands of moldering written, audio, and video works which are not clearly owned by anybody, but kept from reproduction by murky rights issues.

Please create a usable process so these works can be returned to the public domain, where they will help everyone, rather than, as now, noone.